Qualifications and Requirements

To teach in Cambodia, you typically need a bachelor's degree in any field and a TEFL (Teaching English as a Foreign Language) certification. Some schools may prefer candidates with a teaching license or experience teaching English to non-native speakers.

The TEFL certification can be obtained through accredited online or in-person courses. It provides essential knowledge and practical skills for teaching English as a foreign language.

Application Process

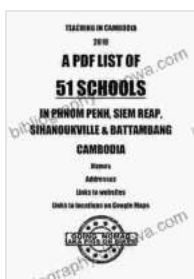

To apply for a teaching position in Cambodia, it is recommended to start by researching the schools that align with your qualifications and preferences. You can visit their websites, attend school fairs, or contact them directly to inquire about job openings.

Once you have identified potential schools, prepare a strong application package that includes:

- A cover letter expressing your interest in the position and how your skills and experience match the school's needs
- A resume highlighting your educational background, teaching experience, and relevant skills
- A copy of your TEFL certification
- Letters of recommendation from previous employers or educators

Submit your application package to the hiring manager at the school and be prepared for an interview if shortlisted.

Teaching in Cambodia is an enriching and rewarding experience that offers personal growth, cultural immersion, and the opportunity to make a positive impact on young lives. With the information provided in this comprehensive guide, you are well-equipped to navigate the process of finding the perfect teaching position in Phnom Penh or Siem Reap.
