Trevor was one of those people. A lifelong resident of the UK, he had always felt a strong connection to Europe. He had worked in various European countries and had many friends and colleagues across the continent. When the UK voted to leave the EU, he felt a sense of loss and displacement.

So, Trevor decided to leave the UK. He sold his house, packed his belongings, and bought a Peugeot 206. He named the car "Brexit" and set off on a journey to find a new home in Europe.

Trevor's journey was not without its challenges. Brexit, the Peugeot, proved to be a constant source of trouble. It broke down on numerous occasions, leaving Trevor stranded at the side of the road. He had to learn how to fix the car himself, which was no easy task. But through it all, Brexit remained Trevor's loyal companion.

Trevor's journey took him through many different countries. He visited France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Greece, and Germany. He met all sorts of interesting people along the way, and he had many adventures. He learned about different cultures, languages, and ways of life. And through it all, Brexit was always there, chugging along beside him.

Trevor's journey was not just about escaping Brexit. It was also about finding a new home, a new community, and a new sense of belonging. And in the end, he found what he was looking for. He settled down in a small town in France, where he made new friends and started a new life.

Trevor's story is an inspiring one. It is a story about courage, resilience, and the power of friendship. It is a story about the importance of finding a place where you belong. And it is a story about the enduring spirit of adventure.

If you are looking for a book that will make you laugh, cry, and think, then I highly recommend "The True Tale of a Brexit Refugee and His Trusty Troublesome Peugeot." It is a truly unique and unforgettable story.
